

Kindergarten & First Grade News

October 23, 2017

Greetings and Blessings to you!

Join us on Wednesday, October 25 at 9:15 for a special chapel service to thank the pastors of our community.

This week kindergarten will continue getting better at recognizing amounts less than 5 without having to count. First grade will work with creating true number sentences and finding unknown numbers in equations.

In religion we will learn about the Reformation as well as do Memory for Week #8 and the account of Joseph and His Brothers.

In science we are looking at animals and determining if they live on land or in the water. Then we will search to see if we can determine where these animals are found on the earth.

Show and Tell for both this Friday and next will be about animals and their characteristics and habitat. Students may bring a picture or stuffed animal. They should know something about the animal and where it can be found naturally on Earth (not the zoo or your house). We will do Show and Tell after the field trip on Friday the 27th. We will have the same theme for Friday the 3rd.

Blessings on your week.
